

Maybe This Weekend

| #  |  |  |  | EXAMPLE                                                     |
|----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1  | weekend noun                                                        | dam olish kunlari                                                                 | выходные                                                                          | We visit my grandparents every weekend .             |
| 2  | sure adjective                                                      | ishonchli                                                                         | уверенный                                                                         | Are you sure the shop is open?                       |
| 3  | botanical garden noun                                               | botanika bog'i                                                                    | ботанический сад                                                                  | The botanical garden is full of flowers in spring.   |
| 4  | rain verb                                                           | yomg'ir yog'moq                                                                   | идти дождю                                                                        | Take an umbrella — it might rain .                   |
| 5  | stay verb                                                           | qolmoq                                                                            | оставаться                                                                        | I want to stay in bed all day!                       |
| 6  | join verb                                                           | qo'shilmoq                                                                        | присоединиться                                                                    | Can I join you for lunch?                            |
| 7  | weather noun                                                        | ob-havo                                                                           | погода                                                                            | The weather is lovely today.                         |
| 8  | otherwise adverb                                                    | aks holda                                                                         | иначе                                                                             | Hurry up. Otherwise , we'll be late.                 |
| 9  | cousin noun                                                         | amakivachcha                                                                      | двоюродный брат/сестра                                                            | My cousin is the same age as me.                     |
| 10 | shrug verb                                                          | yelka qisadi                                                                      | пожимает плечами                                                                  | He shrugs and says, "I don't know."                  |
| 11 | café noun                                                           | kafe                                                                              | кафе                                                                              | Let's meet at the café near the park.                |
| 12 | downtown adverb                                                     | shahar markazida                                                                  | в центре города                                                                   | There are lots of shops downtown .                   |
| 13 | suggest verb                                                        | taklif qiladi                                                                     | предлагает                                                                        | My teacher suggests reading every day.               |
| 14 | busy adjective                                                      | band                                                                              | занятый                                                                           | I'm too busy to go out tonight.                      |
| 15 | idea noun                                                           | g'oya                                                                             | идея                                                                              | That's a good idea !                                 |
| 16 | invite verb                                                         | taklif qilmoq                                                                     | пригласить                                                                        | Let's invite our neighbours for tea.                 |
| 17 | like verb                                                           | yoqtirmoq                                                                         | нравиться                                                                         | Do you like spicy food?                              |
| 18 | final adjective                                                     | yakuniy                                                                           | окончательный                                                                     | The final exam is in June.                           |
| 19 | plan noun                                                           | reja                                                                              | план                                                                              | What's the plan for tomorrow?                        |
| 20 | wait verb                                                           | kutmoq                                                                            | ждать                                                                             | Please wait here for a moment.                       |
| 21 | change verb                                                         | o'zgarmoq                                                                         | меняться                                                                          | Leaves change colour in autumn.                      |
| 22 | agree verb                                                          | rozi bo'ladi                                                                      | соглашается                                                                       | My mum always agrees with my teacher!                |
| 23 | message verb                                                        | xabar yubormoq                                                                    | написать сообщение                                                                | Message me when you get home.                        |
| 24 | decide verb                                                         | qaror qilmoq                                                                      | решить                                                                            | You have to decide today.                            |
| 25 | actually adverb                                                     | aslida                                                                            | на самом деле                                                                     | I thought it was easy, but it's actually quite hard. |
| 26 | enjoy verb                                                          | zavqlanmoq                                                                        | наслаждаться                                                                      | I enjoy cooking with my grandmother.                 |
| 27 | sky noun                                                            | osmon                                                                             | небо                                                                              | The sky is blue and clear today.                     |
| 28 | clear adjective                                                     | tiniq                                                                             | ясный                                                                             | On a clear day, you can see the mountains.           |
| 29 | confirm verb                                                        | tasdiqlaydi                                                                       | подтверждает                                                                      | The hotel confirms our booking by email.             |
| 30 | hope verb                                                           | umid qilgan                                                                       | надеялись                                                                         | The test went better than I hoped .                  |